

Confidentiality Agreements

Producer and its Production Counsel must take all necessary steps to ensure that the staff, crew, talent, and on-camera participants will follow the confidentiality and publicity obligations required by the Agreement and their respective employment or participant agreements.

- All crew and staff should sign a confidentiality agreement prior to start of production.
- For competition shows and other unscripted programming where the content/outcome is particularly confidential, individuals who are close with contestants/participants (e.g., roommates, family members, significant others) must sign a non-disclosure agreement.
- Confidentiality reminders must be sent following completion of taping, prior to the premiere of the series, and prior to the release of the final episode.
