

Production Rebates, Tax Credits, and Incentives

Producer will research and discuss with YouTube Production based on the anticipated filming location of the program any available production incentives (e.g., tax credits, tax rebates) that may be offered by the city, state, region, or country in which the production is located. Please discuss the findings with YouTube Production on all available tax incentives.

- The Producer acknowledges and agrees that any and all incentives are, and will be, for the exclusive benefit of YouTube, and shall only be dispersed (e.g., applied towards the program budget or distributed to YouTube) in accordance with YouTube's directions.
- Subject to YouTube Production's prior approval and instruction to do so, Producer will timely prepare, complete, execute, submit and deliver any and all application(s), documentation and related instruments and take all other reasonable actions (all in a form and substance pre-approved by YouTube Production) that may be necessary to certify eligibility and to secure, maintain, protect and receive the maximum possible production incentives, and shall provide YouTube with copies of all documents.
- Producer will immediately notify YouTube Production of any and all payments, refunds, credits and/or other benefits derived from or relating to the production incentives received by or credited to Producer, all of which will be kept in a separate account and will not be commingled with any other funds of the Producer or the program.
- Please discuss with the Production Executive if you should include production incentive estimates in the budget itself. Consult your agreement with Google for the specific treatment of tax incentives.